FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Wine on the Fly Partners with WorldCast Anglers in Jackson Hole, Wyoming

Orinda, California (October 4, 2010) Brian Lamborn of Lamborn Family Vineyards recently announced the selection of WorldCast Anglers in Jackson Hole, WY to host the second annual Wine on the Fly Event.

Lamborn made his decision after months of tough deliberation. “There are so many terrific venues to choose from that I had a very difficult time making a decision. I created Wine on the Fly to combine my two passions, fly fishing and wine, and to provide guests with a trip-of-a-lifetime experience. The core ingredients of the event are exquisite wines, outstanding fisheries, phenomenal outfitters and guides, and tastefully relaxed accommodations. Mike Dawes and his WorldCast Anglers team is one of the most highly-respected guide services in the Rocky Mountains, and their watershed offers some of the best fishing in the West. I couldn’t be happier.”

WorldCast Anglers’ Managing partner Mike Dawes shares the enthusiasm. “Our entire team is excited about hosting Wine on the Fly. Brian has organized a terrific event, and we’re looking very forward to this partnership. At WorldCast Anglers we are committed to creating a world-class fly-fishing experience and Wine of the Fly will be a great opportunity to deliver on that commitment.

According to WorldCast Angler’s Business Development Manager Michael Dawkins, “most of the fishing will be on the South Fork of the Snake. The South Fork has a long-standing reputation as one of the best dry fly rivers in the West, with epic hatches and big trout. The trip will be a combination of float and walk-and-wades on four different sections of the South Fork. Weather permitting, some fishing may occur on the legendary Henry’s Fork, the Snake, and the Teton. One of the overnights will be at WorldCast Angler’s South Fork Hilton. After a full day on the water the driftboats pull up onshore and guests spend the night in canvas outfitter tents. Enjoying a gourmet meal with a presentation of exquisite wines is difficult to beat. The tent’s offer comfortable, rustic elegance, and after a peaceful night’s rest you’ll get back on the water for another outstanding day of fishing.”

Brian Lamborn of Lamborn Family Vineyards, a third generation family winery, has orchestrated a representation of wines from three outstanding boutique vineyards. His three choices include the elite Napa Valley and Sonoma Vineyards of Miner Family Vineyards, Hunnicutt, and Barbour Vineyards. Miner is defined first and foremost by a sensational portfolio of wines. Their wines represent an individualistic style and uncommon quality. Hunnicutt strives to produce excellent quality wines while trying to make the idea of wine accessible to all. Guests will enjoy a combination of Cabs, Zins and Chardonnays. Barbour Vineyards is one of Napa's most sought-after vineyards, where wine has grown out of a lifetime of grape and apple farming. After excelling at growing exquisite produce, the family's natural progression was to make wine.

Accommodations, dinner and wine pourings will be held at the Teton Springs Resort in Victor, Idaho. The Teton Springs is a 780-acre retreat that offers deluxe accommodations in a private setting just 30 minutes from the Jackson Hole Airport. For guests who would like to add other activities there is a full service spa and salon, golf, swimming, biking, hiking, tennis, a fitness facility. The cost of the trip is $3200/single occupancy and includes: lodging, meals, wade guides, driftboats and guides, gourmet meals, evening wine presentations, and more. Reservations are limited to 16 participants on a first come/first serve basis. To learn more about this rare opportunity please visit www.wineonthefly.com.
